GRIFFIN HONORED FOR HIS FIGHT ON LANTZ BILLS.

Two big bunches of red roses were presented to Joseph P. Griffin, president of the Board of Trade, on his return from Springfield. One was at his office, in the Women's Temple building, from friends and employees. The other was on the Board of Trade. Mr. Griffin's appearance was the signal for a five-minute suspension of business. An ovation was given him when former President C. H. Canby, who, with Mr. Griffin and others, has been active in legislative work against the Lantz bills, made the presentation. Responding, Mr. Griffin said: "The Board of Trade has won a great victory. I hope we will never again have any occasion to combat unfavorable legislation, but I believe that if we ever do we will continue to be vindicated. At present it is not wise to do much talking."

R. I. Mansfield, who was active as chairman of directing work of securing petitions from farmers to protest against the passage of the Lantz bills, was also given an ovation, as were also F. A. Paddleford and a dozen others.

FUNERAL OF CONGRESSMAN MASON

A great number of people honored the late Congressman W. E. Mason on Monday at funeral services made impressive by their simplicity in Third Unitarian Church, South Kedzie avenue and West Monroe street. A large cortege of friends escorted the body from the home at 3314 Washington boulevard to the church.

E. R. Mason, a brother of the dead Congressman and the last survivor of a family of thirteen sons, came from Des Moines, Ia., to attend the services.

Congress was represented by a committee made up of United States Senators Medill McCormick and McKinley and Congressmen Mann, Chidbloom, Kunz, Michaelson, Sabath, Gordon, Britten, Rodenberg, King and Yates, of Illinois; Rucker of Missouri, Smith of Idaho, Lambert of Wisconsin, Connolly of Texas, and Purnell and Lühring of Indiana.

Several messages of sympathy from foreign nations were received during the day. Among them was one from President Barcelo of the Porto Rican Senate. It referred to Mr. Mason as "Porto Rico's great friend."

A short sermon was delivered by the Rev. Fred V. Hawley. Private services were held at the grave in Waukegan.

WARNING

The Chicago Eagle is informed that a person calling himself Reynolds and perhaps other names is falsely representing himself as connected with The Chicago Eagle and is soliciting money on the strength of that alleged connection. No man answering that name or description is connected with The Chicago Eagle in any capacity.

The Chicago Eagle does not send men out to collect money for any purpose, except it be in payment for legitimate advertising in The Chicago Eagle and for subscriptions. Any person soliciting money otherwise on the strength of his connection with this paper is a fraud and should be treated accordingly.

Charles Krutckoff, popular member of the Board of Assessors, is one of the most popular public officials in Illinois. For many years he was Chief Clerk of the board until the people elected him a member of that body. He grows stronger in the public confidence every day.

EAGLETS.

Arthur N. Cordell of the First National Bank is one of the rising young men of Chicago. He is highly esteemed in business and financial circles and is of the type of man who would represent Chicago well in Congress.

Judge William R. Fetzner is making a good record on the Municipal bench. He made a great record in the City Council. His record as a member of the Bar is without a blemish. His friends are proud of him and his enemies—and no man in public life is without them—are unable to find anything in his career that will lower the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow citizens.

Rev. L. W. Frawley, popular assistant pastor of Ascension Catholic Church, Oak Park, was presented with a purse by his many admirers on his transfer to St. Malachy's Church, Chicago. It is no exaggeration to say that no man in religious life in or about Chicago numbers more friends than Father Frawley.

A fine orator and a good priest, he is also a finished athlete and will be missed by the boys in his old parish. Father Frawley was one of the first to heed his country's call in the World War and he served abroad with great credit as a chaplain in the American Army beyond the seas. He has the best wishes of thousands of friends in his new field.

Harrison B. Riley, president of the Chicago Title & Trust Company, is one of the foremost citizens of Chicago; always progressive and patriotic.

Charles E. Davis, president of Rothschild & Co., the great State street store, is one of the live wires of Chicago. He is foremost in every movement for the betterment of the city and for the advancement of its interests. His life work has been a continuous boost for Chicago.

The city department of gas and electricity never was in better hands than it is now. William G. Keith, the commissioner, is an able, honest, and progressive man.

A. J. Kowalski, cashier of the big North-Western Trust and Savings bank is frequently mentioned for state treasurer of Illinois. He is very popular and would be elected if he permitted the use of his name. Mr. Kowalski is a Democrat and a leading member of the Iroquois club.

Jacob Levy, the well known Twen ty-first ward Democratic leader, would make a good county commissioner.

Robert M. Switzer, grows stronger every day in the affections of the public. During the years that he has administered the affairs of the county clerk's office the breath of scandal has never touched it once. His position in the community was won by his courteous treatment of the people and the honesty and ability he has shown in his public life.

PATRICK J. CARR.
Popular County Treasurer.

R. J. Buhler, president of the Chicago Mutual Casualty Company is a progressive citizen of whom Chicago is proud.

Charles Center Case, who made a splendid record as assistant state's attorney, would make a good judge.

Dixon C. Williams, the well known manufacturer, deserves well* at the hands of the Democratic party. He is a born leader.

Charles Center Case, who made a splendid record as assistant state's attorney, would make a fine judge.

George L. Schein, the well known lawyer, would make a good judge.

Andrew J. Ryan is one of the ablest and most highly respected lawyers in Chicago.

Keep your eyes on Lincoln Park and watch it run down.

Sam S. Piser, the well known and wealthy Roosevelt Road undertaker, is being talked of for County Commissioner by his many friends.

Irwin R. Hazen, formerly Judge of the Municipal Court, announces that he has formed a co-partnership with Willis Melville in the general practice of law, with offices at 32 West Washington street, at Dearborn.

County Commissioner Albert No wak, has made and is making a good public record. He is careful and painstaking, and makes friends every day by his courteous treatment of the public and his attention to duty.

Dennis J. Egan has made a fine record in every official position he has held. He is pleasing everybody as Chief Bailiff of the Municipal Court.

William F. Quinlan, "the father of Edgewater," has a host of friends all over Chicago.

EAGLETS.

William H. Lyman, the popular former senator and alderman, is at the head of the big public contracting firm of W. H. Lyman & Co.

Charles Appel, the popular proprietor of the North Side Turner Hall, has built up one of the finest restaurant trades in Chicago by his general methods and strict attention to business. People who have patronized his popular restaurant at 820 N. Clark street, are never tired of praising the good cooking and splendid meals.

M. E. Daniels, president of the Bankers Audit and Appraisal Company, is highly respected in the business and financial world. He has a host of friends who would support him for any office in the gift of the people.

Alderman John G. Horne is making a splendid record in the city council. He is on the side of the people at all times and friends of good government wish that a majority of the aldermen were like him.

Calvin F. Craig, the able president of the Mechanics & Traders State Bank, deserves great credit for the well deserved popularity of that big West Side institution.

Joseph F. Haas has always made a good public record. He is a man of the people.

Judge William R. Fetzner is making a fine record on the Municipal bench. Fair-minded and just and conceded on all sides to be an able lawyer, the public and the Bar are alike pleased with him.

Fred W. Upham is always on hand when Chicago wants him, whether it is to bring a national convention to the city, or to win anything big for the town. Upham is always the leader in the movement.

Adam Ortesen, one of the best of Chicago's City Treasurers, would make a good State Treasurer.

If the Chicago Telephone Company would use the Automatic system which it now owns its really able and efficient officers would be saved from the numerous complaints about "wrong numbers"—and other things.

Chicago needs more street lights and more bridges also.

Some of the would-be quick money getters have thrown away gold bricks and organized a "trust" game to separate people from their coin. Secretary of State L. L. Emmerson has lived up to his reputation as a good official by refusing to recognize the alleged securities of some of these crooks for whom the penitentiary is yawning.

Alderman Walter P. Steffen is making a fine record in the city council.

John U. Smyth, the well known real estate and insurance man, is always a booster for the west side.

Emanuel Weil has been connected with the New York Life Insurance Company for over twenty years. No insurance agent in the country is more popular with the public, or more loyal to his friends than Mr. Weil.

Lawrence P. Romano of the well-known Morse-Romano Co., is one of the best liked men in the investment and real estate line in Chicago. His ability and courtesy have won for him an army of friends.

Dixon C. Williams has high honors awaiting him at the hands of the people.

Edward A. Cudahy stands foremost among the men who have helped make Chicago the great city she is today.

S. P. Messinger has done much for Chicago in furnishing the people with a fine lot of first-class restaurants.

The Dehken System at 17 North Wabash avenue is the best system in the world for building up the body, restoring good nerves and improving the health.

Two Historical Reminiscences.

Genius, king of Illyria, was vanquished by the Romans in 168 B. C. An herb was named for him, gentian whose bitter root is employed in medicine since time immemorial. It belongs with cascara, sagra and other herbs to the ingredients of Triner's Bitter Wine, the most reliable remedy for poor appetite, constipation, headache, and other stomach troubles. Angelica is another old acquaintance. Its bitter root was used for gases in the stomach and intestines by the ancients. Emperor Charles IV., who ruled gloriously in Bohemia in the 14th century, placed a great confidence in this remedy and because he believed that the angelica growing in Bohemia was the best, it was forwarded to him when he made his often long journeys. It is today the main ingredient of Triner's Angelica Bitter Tonic, a remedy which braces up the nerves and builds up sapped health. Try these Triner's remedies, you can get them at all druggists and dealers in medicines.—Advertisement.

Reorganization of Zionists

JOHN A. CARROLL.
President of the Hyde Park State Bank.

Repudiation of the administration of the officers of the American Zionist organization by the twenty-fourth annual convention at Cleveland resulted in the resignation of President Julian W. Mack of Chicago (portrait here-with) and six other officers of the organization and 35 of the 50 members and the secretary of the national executive committee, Peter J. Schweitzer, treasurer of the organization, was the only incumbent to retain his position.

Besides Judge Mack, American Zionist organization officials who relinquished their offices are: Justice Louis D. Brandeis of Washington, honorary president; Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, honorary vice president; Harry Friedenwald of Baltimore and Nathan Straus, New York, vice presidents; Jacob De Haas, secretary of the Palestine department, and Reuben Horchow, assistant treasurer. All except Justice Brandeis are members of the executive committee.

The victorious pro-Weizmann forces have not tried to replace them. Until the next annual convention their organization will be administered by a representative committee of seven.

Women to Surrender Hatreds

Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, is in Europe to be gone until autumn. In Vienna, from July 10 to July 16, she will direct the third congress of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, of which she was elected president two years ago at its meeting in Geneva, Switzerland. More than two thousand women, from nearly every country on the globe, from Australia to Uruguay and Japan to Sweden, will be in attendance. Twenty-one delegates and eleven alternates, in addition to American visitors in Europe, will represent the United States section in the conference.

Among the subjects which the women will discuss will be the participation of their own sex in international politics; education as the way to peace; efforts against war animosities; pacifism in moments of economic and social transition; revision of treaties; the League of Nations; freedom of trade; transit and communication.

"The women's highest hope is to create good will," Miss Addams said.

Admiral Sims Taken to Task

Rear Admiral William S. Sims, U. S. N., seems to be a sailor man who has opinions of his own and the courage of his convictions. Anyway, in London in addressing the English-Speaking Union, he said something tart about some Americans of Irish blood and stirred up a jolly row, both in the tight little island and in Washington, U. S. A.

The criticisms recall the admiral's famous "Guild Hall" speech of 1910, for which he was reprimanded by President Taft and to which he himself referred. There have been many quotations of that speech commonly referred to as the "last drop of blood speech," but Admiral Sims in his recent book, "The Victory at Sea," gives his own version:

"The statement then made was purely the inspiration of the moment; it came from the heart, not from the head; probably the evidences that Germany was stealthily preparing her great blow had something to do with my outburst. I certainly spoke without any authorization from my government and realized at once that I had committed a great indiscretion."

"If the time should ever come," I said, "when the British empire is menaced by a European coalition, Great Britain can rely upon the last ship, the last dollar, the last man and the last drop of blood of her kindred beyond the sea."

Uncle Sam: Dealer in Grain

Creation of a $100,000,000 federal farmers' export financing corporation to buy farm products in the United States and sell them abroad is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the agricultural committee. The corporation would be composed of the secretary of agriculture and four other directors to be appointed by the President, with the consent of the senate, at annual salaries of $7,500, and be authorized to issue bonds up to ten times its paid-in capital.

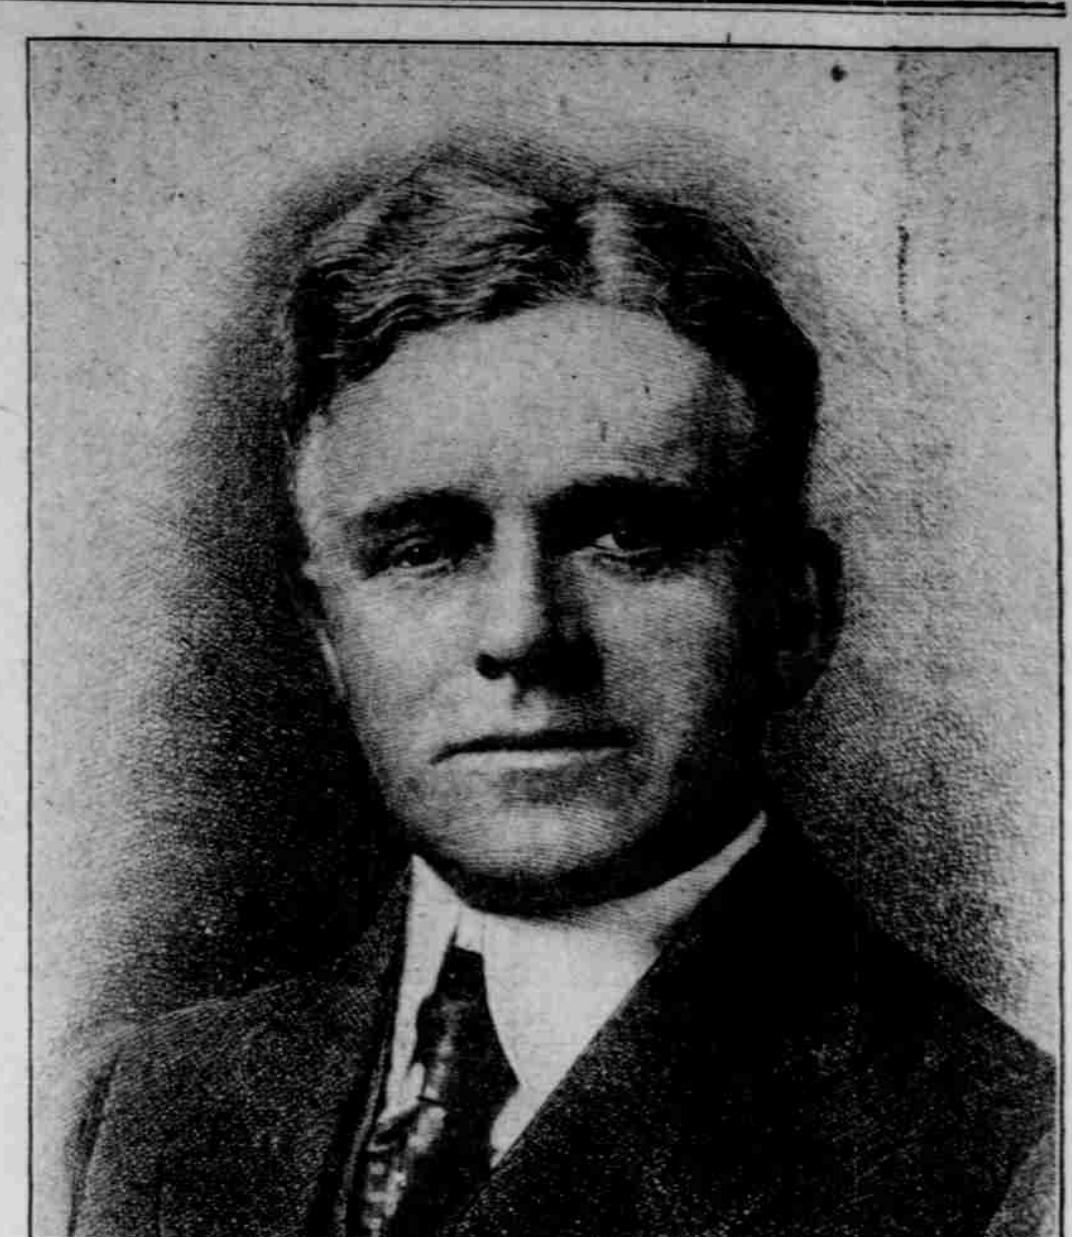

The proposed new government agency would sell American farm products abroad to nations or individuals, act as the agent for any producer or dealer in farm products and also make advances to assist agricultural exports. The bill was described by Senator Norris as designed to provide "a middle between the producer in America and the consumer in Europe."

Gladys to Succeed Consuelo

The official announcement of the engagement of the Duke of Marlborough and Gladys Deacon, the beautiful Bostonian with golden hair and big blue eyes (portrait herewith) created no surprise. Miss Deacon has been a long-time friend of the Churchill family. She was one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Consuelo Vanderbilt and the duke at St. Thomas' church in Fifth avenue in 1895. When Miss Deacon made her debut into English society she was chaperoned by the first duchess and Mrs. Arthur Paget, and Consuelo always included her in the list of guests at the house parties at Blenheim castle. Consuelo, as everyone knows, is the only daughter of the late William K. Vanderbilt and the present Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont.

Coincident with the announcement came an unverified report that Consuelo, the divorced wife of the duke, would become the bride of Jacques Balsan of Paris and retire from the British peerage, in which she has held a conspicuous place for 25 years.
